So Cal Transit Goes Micro

On-demand microtransit vans provide shared rides on call to fill the transit gap in areas where bus service is consistently under-used or areas that are hard to serve with full-size buses on fixed routes. Here's what's big right now in small transit:

OmniRide—Serving the San Bernardino Valley

The San Bernardino Valley now has its first-ever microtransit service—OmniRide. It provides reservation-based, on-demand, shared service (similar to an Uber or Lyft) to residents and commuters within the Chino and Chino Hills region.

Fare is $4 per ride and includes an Omnitrans day-pass for transfer to fixed-route buses or Metrolink.

Make reservations using the free mobile app or by calling 909.383.1680.

Metro Micro

Last month, Metro launched Metro Micro.

The shuttle is currently available in two areas: Watts/Willowbrook and LAX/Inglewood, expanding to other areas mid-2021.

For the first six months, customers can ride for a special promotional fare of $1 per trip. (This will not include a transfer to bus or rail.) Rides can be ordered by app, phone or online.

OC Flex Pilot Extended

While some OC Flex service was temporarily suspended due to low ridership, the South Orange County area was just extended through 2021.

OC Flex currently serves portions of Mission Viejo, Aliso Viejo and Laguna Niguel.

For more information about OC Flex, visit octa.net/ocflex.

Join the Rideshare Spotlight

People who rideshare in Riverside and San Bernardino counties can log their trips for a chance to win monthly prizes valued up to $100 and a chance to share their story. Now the Rideshare Spotlight is expanded to include teleworkers. Get details and sign up at IECommuter.org.

More Metro Bike Share

Metro Bike Share recently opened 17 stations on the Westside of Los Angeles. That brings the total number of bike stations to more than 200, with many open 24/7.

Sunline Now Serves San Bernardino

Sunline Transit's newest line is the 10 Commuter Link, which provides service between the Coachella Valley and San Bernardino.

The route is 92 miles, serving major universities and transit centers, including the San Bernardino Transit Center and Metrolink station.
